Ron Futrell: Owner, Future Vegas Media and LocalsLoveVegas.com

Ron has worked in radio and TV news for more than 30 years. He was a journalism major at Brigham Young University, and began his career in the late 70's as a host of his own radio shows in Southern California and Salt Lake City.

Ron's first TV job was as a general assignment reporter in the early 80's at the ABC station in Salt Lake, then anchored news and sports in Yakima, Washington at the NBC affiliate. In 1984 Ron moved to Las Vegas where he was the sports director and anchor at the ABC station. In 2003 he was moved from sports to morning news anchor where he took the newscast from 4th place to number one by being conversational and honest with the viewers.

Currently, Ron hosts a local radio show and owns his own media relations company, additionally running his popular Las Vegas web site, LocalsLoveVegas.com.
